

One tale and two truths

This game is simply getting to know one another, so the young people make up two true facts about themselves and one lie, they then tell the group the three facts about them and the group has to guess which one is the tale.

